Boris plug-in applications, including Graffiti, FX, and Red, permit video editors to add titling, effects, compositing, and 3D capabilities to their nonlinear editing (NLE) systems. Documentation and training materials have been notoriously lacking for these applications. Instant Boris Effects is a complete guide for novice and intermediate users of Boris Graffiti, FX, and Red applications. Beginning with an orientation to the user interface, readers learn how masks, splines, containers, and filters work. They'll learn how to apply Boris effects through their NLE, and the benefits of using them as stand-alone applications. The second section provides detailed, step-by-step instructions on building example effects that readers can incorporate into their own work - including rotoscoping effects, animating still images, text on a path, 3D extruded objects with media mapping, and clean chroma-key effects.

"Destroy the Enemy in Hand-to-Hand Combat" was the official Red Army close combat manual during the Second World War.It was published in 1941, shortly after Nazi Germany invaded the Soviet Union. This would have been the very manual used to train the troops that fought -- and defeated -- the Nazis at Stalingrad and in Berlin, in fierce hand-to-hand and house-to-house combat. This, despite the superiority of German technology and firepower.Now this book is available to you, with all its original illustrations, in this lovingly formatted electronic edition. The text was translated from the original Russian by author, translator and graduate student of history Boris Karpa, with the utmost care taken to preserve the meaning of the original text, without taking away its unique character.This manual, however, is more than a historical curiosity. Though the average American gun owner is certainly a better shot and has better equipment than a Soviet conscript, very little emphasis in our culture is placed on hand-to-hand combat skills, even though most self-defense situations occur at point-blank range. If you are serious about the ideas of self-defense and emergency preparedness, "Destroy the Enemy in Hand-to-Hand Combat" may have something to teach you.

Boris Vian is a rare phenomenon. Nothing short of a national treasure in France, he is hardly known overseas. In his lifetime, he divided literary opinion with masterpieces that failed to sell and best sellers that caused outrage, trials and even deaths, including his own. As an impresario, he became the figurehead of the jazz scene that marked the French left bank at the end of the Second World War and was responsible for bringing Duke Ellington and Miles Davis to France. As a musician, he played his trumpet against the advice of cardiologists, sang pacifist songs before audiences of outraged patriots and, in passing, created French rock 'n' roll. Posthumously, he became known for his theatre, film scripts and poetry as well as for his novels. And in May '68 he became a revolutionary icon.

"If enemy scouts are observed, it is desirable to ambush and capture them. [...] Without letting the enemy approach to point-blank range, the patrol must leap from cover and attack the opponent suddenly, silently and without battle-cries. Anyone who resists must be immediately stabbed to death."During World War II, The Soldier and Squad in Night Combat was the official Soviet manual on night combat at the individual and squad level.Today, when we speak of night fighting, we think of things like night-vision goggles, low-light sights, tactical flashlights and other equipment that makes it easier for the fighting man to overcome the darkness. But before the advent of modern technology, warriors did not overcome the darkness - they made it their ally. They learned to exploit it, to move from hill to ditch and from bush to bush, sneaking closer to their foes. Without the tools of the modern soldier at their disposal, they were forced to be stealthy, vigilant - and extremely ruthless. The Soldier and Squad in Night Combat was the manual used to train men for this kind of combat. Now, this book is available to you with all its original illustrations. The text was translated from the original Russian by author, professional translator and graduate student of military history Boris Karpa, with the utmost care taken to preserve the meaning of the original text, without taking away its unique character.
